What do we do?

Myddelton Street is home to the National Accounts for the UK, and is the main ONS base for economic analysis.

As in most organisations, ONS offers opportunities at a variety of levels - from administrative roles through to senior management. In any role you may find yourself dealing with customers, who include the public, academics, businesses, national press and other government departments.

What facilities are on site?

The site has open-plan offices and air-conditioning. There is a deli bar and vending machines on site together with a gym, yoga classes, showering facilities and external car park, although space is limited.
