3 . Uses of Mergers and Acquisitions data

The estimates produced for mergers and acquisitions (M&A) are important components of foreign direct investment flows data (inward and outward), which is used to calculate the UK Balance of Payments published in the Pink Book and Blue Book.

4 . Things you need to know about this release

This release covers mergers and acquisitions (M&A) transactions that have been successfully completed, result in a change of ultimate control of the target company and have a value of £1 million or more. Information on the number and value of transactions are reported, in addition to whether transactions are acquisitions or disposals.

Figures relating to mergers are included within acquisitions and those relating to demergers are contained within disposals. These statistics are presented on a current price basis, which relates to prices as they were at the time of measurement and they are therefore not adjusted for inflation.

The quarterly numbers and value of M&A activity are prone to large quarter-on-quarter movements, as these data relate to specific “one-off” only transactions. For example, one quarter can be heavily impacted by one large transaction. Therefore it can be more appropriate to analyse trends over time.

5 . Summary

During Quarter 4 (Oct to Dec) 2016, the total number of successful domestic and cross-border mergers and acquisitions (M&A) involving UK saw a decrease when compared with Quarter 3 (July to Sept) 2016 and also with the same quarter of the previous year (Quarter 4 2015). In contrast, the overall total value of successful M&A involving UK companies reported in Quarter 4 2016 saw a notable increase.

Overall in 2016 (Jan to Dec), the number of outward M&A activities involving UK companies remained at lower levels than observed during the 2008 to 2009 economic downturn (Figure 1).

In contrast, the number of inward and domestic M&A saw a notable increase in activity during 2016 when compared with 2015, representing year-on-year increases of 57% and 63% respectively.

The average quarterly value per M&A transaction since 2012 was above the long run quarterly average since 1997.

Recent M&A statistics can be put into context by comparing the M&A activity involving UK companies over consecutive 5-year intervals since 1997 (Table 1A).

Average outward M&A

On average, 128 acquisitions were completed each quarter during the 1997 to 2001 period (5-year interval), with an average value of £160 million per transaction. The average number of outward acquisitions continued to see a decline during the following 10 years (2002 to 2011), falling to 73 outward acquisitions with an average value of £101 million. For the period Quarter 1 (Jan to March) 2012 to Quarter 3 (July to Sept) 2016, the average number of outward acquisitions fell further to reach 31. While the average quarterly number in this last period was the lowest on the 5-year intervals considered, the average value per transaction of £147 million was the highest recorded since the 1997 to 2001 period.

The average value per transaction in Quarter 4 (Oct to Dec) 2016 is much higher than the average quarterly value between Quarter 1 2012 and Quarter 3 2016.

Average inward M&A

During the 5-year period 1997 to 2001, the average number of inward acquisitions was reported as 54 per quarter with an average value of £182 million. The following 10 years (2002 to 2011) experienced relatively stable levels of M&A activity before reaching an average number of 39 inward acquisitions with an average value per transaction of £270 million during Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) 2012 to Quarter 3 (July to Sept) 2016. The average value per transaction has increased over each of the 5-year intervals.

Average domestic M&A

The average number of domestic acquisitions per has seen a decline since the 2002 to 2006 period. The average number of domestic M&A for 2002 to 2006 was 164 with an average value of £39 million per transaction before falling to 67 transactions with an average of value of £38 million in 2012 to 2016 Quarter 3 (July to Sept) period.

During Quarter 4 2016, the value of successful domestic M&A was £1.9 billion compared with £3.4 billion reported in the previous quarter (July to Sept) reflecting a quarter-on-quarter decrease of £1.6 billion (47%).

Notable domestic acquisitions, valued at £100 million or more, that took place during Quarter 4 2016:

Pentland Group Plc \(JD Sports Fashion\) of the UK acquired Go Outdoors Topco Ltd of the UK

Daisy Group Holdings Ltd of the UK acquired Alternative Networks Plc of the UK

Phoenix Life Holdings Ltd of the UK acquired Abbey Life Assurance Company of the UK

7 . Transactions in the UK by other UK companies (Jan to Dec 2016)

Domestic mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity saw a notable rise of 63% during 2016 (400 acquisitions), a considerable increase on the low number previously recorded in 2015 (245 acquisitions) although continuing to remain at lower levels reported during the years before the 2008 to 2009 economic downturn (Figure 2A).

Of the total 400 successful domestic acquisitions, 359 (90%) involved independently-controlled UK companies, while 41 (10%) were for acquisitions of subsidiaries that were part of larger companies.

During 2016, it was notable that Quarter 2 (Apr to June) (133 deals) and Quarter 3 (July to Sept) (118 deals) saw the highest levels of domestic M&A activity, with a combined total of 251 domestic acquisitions, 63% of the total number reported in 2016. In comparison, the number of domestic acquisitions in both Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) and Quarter 4 (Oct to Dec) reported a combined total of 149, reflecting a difference of 102 acquisitions and 37% of the total number of domestic M&A in 2016.

The total value of domestic acquisitions for 2016 was £23.9 billion, with £18.6 billion being reported between Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) and Quarter 2 (Apr to June). The majority of this expenditure (56%) involved issues of ordinary shares, while acquisitions involving cash accounted for 42%, with the remaining 2% represented by issues of fixed-interest securities (Table 9).

The highest quarterly value of domestic M&A was seen in Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) 2016, at £11.9 billion; a small number of successful acquisitions with values over £100 million accounted for the majority of this.

2. All values are at current prices (see Background Notes for definition).

It is possible to split out the number of domestic M&A into those made by independently-controlled companies and those that are by subsidiaries. The acquisition of an independent company means the purchase of a company in its entirety, whereas the acquisition of a subsidiary means the purchase of only a part of a company, between 50.1% and 100%.

During 2016, there were 359 acquisitions of UK independently-controlled companies worth £10.5 billion, compared with 194 acquisitions valued at £4.6 billion reported in 2015 (Figure 3A).

The number of acquisitions for domestic subsidiaries in 2016 decreased slightly by 10 transactions reporting 41 successful acquisitions, compared with 51 reported in 2015. In comparison the value for acquisitions of domestic subsidiaries saw an increase, reporting £13.4 billion worth of M&A compared with £2.3 billion previously reported during 2015.

9 . Transactions in the UK by foreign companies (Jan to Dec 2016)

The number and value of successful acquisitions of UK companies by foreign companies (inward mergers and acquisitions (M&A)) saw a considerable increase in both levels and value of M&A activity during 2016.

The comparison of annual trends for inward M&A shows that the estimate for the number of completed UK acquisitions in 2016 (227) was similar to that seen during 2010 and 2011 when the numbers of acquisitions were 212 and 237 respectively. Since 1988, inward M&A activity increased steadily until reaching a peak in 1993 before seeing a flat trend developing even though the amount of activity has been cyclical (Figure 4A).

The reported value of inward M&A increased notably in 2016, reaching a total of £187.4 billion – the highest since our records first began in 1969. While M&A figures have historically been volatile, the 2016 value was substantially larger than the previous high recorded in 2007 (£82.1 billion) and the value recorded in 2015 (£33.3 billion).

During 2016, the number of disposals of UK companies by foreign companies involving a change in majority ownership, saw a 17% decrease of activity when compared with 2015, totalling 29 disposals valued at £4.8 billion.

During the fourth quarter of 2016, UK companies spent £3.1 billion on acquisitions of foreign companies abroad, a similar value as reported in Quarter 3 2016 (£3.1 billion), but 64% lower than the value previously reported in Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) 2016 (£8.6 billion).

There were 135 successful outward M&A for the whole of 2016. This shows a decrease of 35 compared with the 170 acquisitions recorded in 2015; a year-on-year fall of 21%. With the exception of 2015, the levels of outward M&A activity have continued to fall since 2011 when 286 completed outward acquisitions were reported (Figure 6A).

The total value of completed acquisitions made abroad by UK companies for the whole of 2016 was £16.7 billion, similar to the value of £17.9 billion reported for 2012. 13 . How our statistics compare with external evidence

Our estimates for domestic and cross-border mergers and acquisitions, during Quarter 4 (Oct to Dec) 2016 and for 2016 as a whole, appear to be in line with the views of some external commentators.

Global merger, acquisitions and disposals activity can be driven by the availability of credit. Therefore, when credit conditions deteriorate, as happened in the 2008 to 2009 economic downturn, mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity declines. M&A activity can also be interpreted by the economic outlook and company profits, in addition to a range of other economic factors. The process of completing an M&A transaction takes time and sometimes there may be a lag between improving economic conditions and any increase in M&A activity.

The Bank of England \(BoE\) Credit Conditions Review – Quarter 4 2016 reported that the overall demand for corporate lending from small and medium-sized businesses decreased significantly in Quarter 4 2016. Significant reductions in capital investment and commercial real estate were reported to be the main factors contributing to the changes in corporate lending demand in Quarter 4 2016, while mergers and acquisitions activity had pushed up on demand.

The Bank of England Agents Summary of business conditions – Quarter 4 2016 stated that professional services contacts had reported that mergers and acquisitions and foreign direct investment activity had picked up. However, both remained weaker than before the referendum.

Deloitte's US/UK Deal Monitor, 2H 2016 publication reported that the UK remains highly attractive for US dealmakers as the rate of US deal making in the UK has been strong in the second half of 2016. However, some UK dealmakers have put M&A on hold.

14 . Quality and methodology

The Mergers and acquisitions Quality and Methodology Information document contains important information on:

- the strengths and limitations of the data and how it compares with related data
- users and uses of the data
- how the output was created
- the quality of the output including the accuracy of the data

. Background notes

1. Overview of mergers and acquisitions

The mergers and acquisitions (M&A) estimates are analysed and produced to measure investment data for:

- investment in the UK by UK companies (domestic investment)
- investment or disinvestment in the UK by foreign companies (inward investment or disinvestment)
- investment or disinvestment in foreign companies by UK companies (outward investment or disinvestment)

M&A data are essential for producing the UK National Accounts. The survey results form important components of the UK Balance of Payments and Financial Accounts and are vital in the measurement of the financial and non-financial business sector accounts. M&A data is used in the compilation of the estimates for foreign direct investment and additionally used by other government departments when preparing ministerial briefings. For example, HM Treasury, the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy, UK Trade and Investment and HM Revenue and Customs. The M&A data estimates are also used by foreign embassies, economists and academics for research purposes and for periodic statistical comparisons.

2. Relevance to users

The degree to which the statistical outputs meet users' needs.

The mergers and acquisitions data are considered to be essential for producing the UK National Accounts. The survey results form important components of the UK Balance of Payments and Financial Accounts and are vital in the measurement of the financial and non-financial business sector accounts.

The Cross-Borders Acquisitions and Mergers Survey (M&A) data are used in the compilation of the estimates of foreign direct investment (FDI). These data meet the needs of FDI by collecting data on all acquisitions which lead to a holding in excess of 10% of the issued share capital. These estimates then feed into the UK Balance of Payments and the "Rest of the World" sector of the financial accounts in the national accounts, for which there is an EU legal requirement. Individual transaction information is also used to estimate the counterpart in "portfolio" investment flows for monthly balance of payments.

The data collected are also used in updating business structures and country of ownership codes on the Inter-Departmental Business Register (IDBR). The IDBR is a comprehensive list of UK businesses that is used by government for statistical purposes.

Elsewhere in government, examples of departments who use the data include:

- HM Treasury, Economic Analysis Division, where the data are used in preparing briefing and forecasting
- Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy, where direct investment data are required for ministerial briefing, parliamentary questions and in formulating trade policy
- UK Trade and Investment, where the information is used for briefing on the extent to which the UK is successful in attracting inward investment
- HM Revenue and Customs, where the data are used to help in forecasting company taxation

Non-government users include:

- private companies which are interested in analysing country and industry data for trends by foreign firms in the UK and by UK companies abroad and also for researching corporate finance activity and for the purpose of investment banking
- UK embassies in foreign countries, who are interested in information on specific countries and companies making acquisitions

- private sector economists, journalists and academics who are interested in information on particular industries and particular countries for research purposes and who use the data for periodic statistical comparisons

Feedback from users has indicated that the information received from the M&A survey has a high degree of relevance across the above user groups, meets the vast majority of user needs, and all information currently collected and published is used.

Source of data

The information collected is based on reports in the financial press, specialist magazines, company and financial websites supplemented by special surveys to businesses to determine the form, value and timing of each transaction.

If the information is not yet in the public domain, such transactions may not be reflected in the analysis. Where full information has not yet been received on the details of the acquisition or disposal, the value of the transaction indicated in the public domain is used as an interim estimate.

The data shown in this release relate solely to mergers and acquisitions undertaken by companies: acquisitions by individuals are not included.

This publication contains data relating mergers, demergers, acquisitions and disposals. Figures relating to mergers are included within acquisitions and those relating to demergers are contained within disposals.

We make every effort to provide informative commentary on the data in this release. As part of the quality assurance process, individual businesses are contacted in an attempt to capture reasons for large period-on-period data movements. It can prove difficult to gather detailed reasons from some businesses to help inform the commentary. Frequently, reasons given for data movements refer to a “change in market conditions” or a “restructure of the company”. Consequently, it’s not possible for all data movements to be fully explained.

We are aware that a number of users make use of these data for modelling or forecasting purposes. In doing so, it is important that users make note of our revisions policy and that all time series are on a “current price” basis, which means that the values are as they were at the time of measurement and not adjusted for inflation. Acquisitions and disposal activity can be affected by UK and global economic and political issues and therefore quarterly estimates can be volatile.

One question often asked of the M&A release is “why is there a time delay between the announcement of M&A transactions in the press and the inclusion of these transactions within ONS M&A figures?” The difference is that our figures record when a transaction legally completes as opposed to when the transaction has been announced in the press. The complexities surrounding the acquisitions or disposals taking place often incurs a time lag, which can vary between quarters.

3. Significant transactions

Significant transactions tables show the reported figures for a selection of significant transactions which occurred in the quarter, where “significance” is defined as the absolute value of the deal.

The information shown is taken from each relevant company’s press release, which is available within the public domain. A direct link to each press release is provided. Should a company request that details of the transaction be kept confidential then the deal is excluded. However, the values are included in the aggregate tables. Occasionally, therefore, a large deal may be missing (suppressed) from the lists so it is best to regard these tables as an indication of the ranking of deals rather than a completely exhaustive listing.

Press-reported figures for M&A transactions often differ to some extent from those supplied by companies to us and it is the latter that are used in compiling statistical aggregates in Tables 1 to 10. Included in the prices quoted in the tables of significant transactions is the total published price paid for the company excluding any assumed debt where known. Deferred payments are included in the reported price even if the payment is made in a different quarter.

4. Types of transactions covered

Mergers are acquisitions in which all or part of the payment is made in shares, such that the shareholders of the 2 companies become shareholders of a new, combined company group.

Demergers are disposals where a company group divides into 2 or more separate companies, in such a way that the shareholders of the restructured companies remain the same, or retain the equivalent value shareholding in one of the newly independent companies. Demergers are included in the statistics within disposals.

Acquisitions are transactions that involve one company purchasing the ordinary shares of a second company ("target company"). A target company is usually of a smaller size than the company undertaking the purchase.

Disposal is a term used to describe the action when a company or organisation sells or liquidates the ordinary shares of a second company ("target company").

Cross-border acquisitions denote transactions where a company in one country acquires, either directly or indirectly, a controlling interest in a company in another country.

Direct transactions are those where a company acquires a controlling interest in another company.

Indirect transactions are those where a company uses an existing foreign subsidiary to acquire a controlling interest in a company resident in another country. The acquiring foreign intermediate company may be located in the same country in which the acquisition is being made or in a different country.

Acquisitions within the UK by other UK companies denote mergers and acquisitions involving only UK registered companies.

Where the acquired company was a subsidiary of another company the transaction is classified as a sale between company groups.

The phrase "acquisitions in the UK by UK companies" refers to deals where the ultimate ownership remains in the UK. This heading does not cover the total number or value of deals where a UK company is the acquirer. When a foreign company acquires a UK company through one of its existing UK subsidiaries or a UK registered special purpose vehicle that deal is shown as part of the data under "acquisitions in the UK by foreign companies".

Acquisition of independent companies

The acquisition of an independent company means the purchase of a company in its entirety – the company itself and all of its subsidiaries.

Acquisition of subsidiary companies

The acquisition of a subsidiary company means the purchase of part of a company.

5. Financing

This statistical bulletin provides details of the application of funds to effect mergers and acquisitions and the proceeds raised from disinvestments and demergers.

For indirect foreign transactions there is the added complication of considering the movements of funds either as capital injection or in the form of loans between parent companies and their foreign subsidiaries making the acquisition. Occasionally, the foreign subsidiary obtains the funds required partly or entirely outside the UK from sources such as:

- own resources
- borrowing from banks and other local sources
- share, bond and other capital or notes issued abroad

Also, a transaction may be funded by more than one method.

7. Revisions

Data for the first, second and third quarters of 2016 has been revised in the light of new information, and so revisions to the data for Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) 2016, Quarter 2 (Apr to June) 2016 and Quarter 3 (July to Sept) have been published in this statistical bulletin. No further revisions to data prior to Quarter 1 2016 have been made. Therefore time series data for all quarters of 2015 and any previous historic quarterly periods remain unchanged.

Annual data tables for 2016 are produced in conjunction with the Quarter 4 (Oct to Dec) 2016 and Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) 2017 data outputs. Revisions to the 2016 quarterly and annual figures will be recalculated at Quarter 1 2017 only. Therefore no revisions to annual data prior to 2016 have been made and subsequently time series data for previous historic annual periods remains unchanged.

Revisions to the aggregates used in M&A principally occur for the following reasons.

Completion of transactions

On announcement of a proposed transaction an expected completion date is usually given. The publicly reported values will be allocated to the quarter of expected completion. If the transaction is ultimately completed in an earlier or later quarter, the recorded values will be reallocated to the new quarter.

Publicly reported values

Publicly reported values are initially used to compile the aggregates. These can vary considerably from the values ultimately supplied by the respondents, frequently because the assumption of debt has been included in the publicly reported value. A nominal value is applied if no publicly reported value is available. The final values used to create the aggregates are those supplied by the respondent.

Non-completion of transactions

On announcement of a proposed transaction the publicly reported value of the transaction is recorded. If the transaction does not subsequently take place the recorded value will be deleted.

Non-share transactions

On announcement of a proposed transaction it may appear that there will be transactions in the share capital of the companies involved and the publicly reported values will be recorded. If subsequent information contradicts this the recorded values will be amended or deleted.

Control

On announcement of a proposed transaction it may appear that the transaction will give the purchasing company control of the purchased company, that is, a share ownership of greater than 50%. If subsequent information contradicts this the recorded values will be amended or deleted.

Revisions from respondents

Very occasionally respondents revise the values that they have previously supplied to us. The revised values are those used to create the aggregates.

3. * Significant Revision

Analysing average revisions between provisional and final estimates can provide an indication of reliability in an initial statistic. Provisional statistics may be based on less information than is available for final statistics as they have been processed more quickly to meet the demand of customers. By looking at these average revisions it can help us determine whether revisions are being made consistently in one direction, that is, if early estimates are consistently under or overestimating the later figures. A test is subsequently performed on these average revisions to determine if they are statistically different from zero. Revisions that are not statistically significant imply that an average revision might be non-zero simply through random effects.

9. Notes to tables

The deal identification threshold was increased at Quarter 1 (Jan to Mar) 2010 to a value of £1.0 million from a previous value of £0.1 million. As a consequence there is a discontinuity in the value and number of deals reported from Quarter 1 2010 onwards compared with previous periods.

Symbols used in the tables are:

– Nil or less than half the final digit shown.

The sum of constituent items in tables may not always agree exactly with the totals shown due to rounding.

10. Disclosure

It is sometimes necessary to suppress figures for certain items in order to avoid disclosing information about an individual business. Further information on why data are suppressed is available in our Disclosure Control Policy.

11. Discussing ONS Business Statistics online

There is a Business and Trade Statistics community on the StatsUserNet website. StatsUserNet is the Royal Statistical Society's interactive site for users of official statistics. The community objectives are to promote dialogue and share information between users and producers of official business and trade statistics about the structure, content and performance of businesses within the UK. Anyone can join the discussions by registering via either of the links.

1 Where a transaction is funded in more than one way, it is included in 'Number' in each method but only once in 'Total'. Therefore numbers may not sum exactly across the columns.

2 Transactions for which details about financing have not been confirmed are included amongst direct transactions. The figures are subsequently revised when details become available.

-indicates data is zero or less than £0.5m
