Thanks for this.

People may also want to read the attached document. It's a summary of one of the key books on household survey nonresponse, and gives essential background for anyone involved in nonresponse research. It was commissioned by the former Social Survey Division Nonresponse Working Group (a precursor of the current group).

Happy reading,

Roeland

Hi All,

Many thanks for the feedback I received concerning the initial draft of the discussions and actions from the Survey Response Group meeting held on 9 January. I have used the feedback to revise the document and also included links to related survey response research reports. A link to the final document is included below.

Thanks,
